

COUPLING MODULE OF A MODULAR IMPLANTABLE MEDICAL DEVICE

ABSTRACT

In an implantable medical device having individual modules, a coupling module couples the modules to one another. The coupling module supports electrical and/or mechanical coupling of the modules. The coupling module may assume a variety of shapes or configurations. The various embodiments of the coupling module may offer the modules varying degrees of freedom of movement relative to one another.